

DPRCG is a network of leaders in the design professional industry working together to create and share risk management solutions.

DPRCG is an exclusive risk management group created for large architectural and engineering firms with demonstrated commitments to risk management and the betterment of the profession. Together, industry leaders work together as trusted peers, collaborating on current issues and driving valuable change in the design industry.

There's nothing quite like the practical advice you get from your professional peers. Since 1988, DPRCG membership has included some of the most recognized names in the industry, offering an unparalleled resource to network and collaborate.
